The lockdown has started, and the lawsuits against some rules, in particular the closings of restaurants, have already been brought before the courts. Lo and behold, there is also a lawsuit by a 7 year old boy, instigated and signed by his mother. At the time of this report, I do not know which subject the lawsuit is based on. But one thing is clear: as of today there are no less than 365 regions with a value over 50.

For once, I have 3 new pieces of information from my city of Göttingen. I reported in my report from 1.11. regarding my "meeting" with the regulatory office in Göttingen. I made a request to the city of Göttingen in this regard and have now received an answer: Contrary to my opinion, the mask requirement would have already applied on Friday morning, as the value was already over 50 at that time. On the subject of recognition of a certificate in Göttingen, the information came that the city of Göttingen has not made any regulations for the recognition of certificates. The other information is a flyer that is available in a box outside a travel agency in the city center. Various flight and accommodation offers in Germany and abroad are available for November, in addition to Thuringia or the Baltic Sea including overnight stays, trips to Greece, Italy or Turkey, as I said, in November are also available. Nanu?

Our Max Planck Institute is not inactive when it comes to research either; a newly published study comes to the conclusion that the number of deaths will double within the first two weeks of November. This would result, among other things, from the fact that mainly young people were infected until the end of September, now the infections are also increasing in those over 60. According to the study, deaths will be between 500-800 per week, possibly higher.

Maaß's admission in terms of border closings should also be interesting. No, there will be no border closings with neighboring countries, even if the numbers continue to rise, he said. With the first lockdown, they gained enough experience on how to organize the controls if they were necessary again. What time is he to reintroduce controls and why the controls were then reintroduced when the wave of infections was far lower, no words. Instead, he prefers to hide behind his perspective that other countries are worse off than us. Of course, Mr. Maaß, we'll wait until we're sick too; very useful. At Maaß, Seibert and Spahn's almost daily phrase "We learn this every day in the pandemic" clearly does not apply.

And BER now also has its first known corona case: of all things, at the opening press conference, which was attended by Brandenburg's Prime Minister Dietmar Woidke (SPD), airport boss Engelbert Lütke Daldrup, Berlin's governing mayor Michael Müller (SPD) and Lufthansa boss Carsten Spohr the Prime Minister has tested positive and has gone into quarantine. With him also Mr. Scheuer, nothing is known about the other people, not even about the other people and journalists who were present at the meeting.

Again something from the smile corner at the end, but what is meant seriously: Since the restaurants are now closed, the FDP parliamentary group in North Rhine-Westphalia has worked hard to develop the idea that the waiters and service staff are now free, they could actually now support regulatory and health authorities. For example, to call contacts afterwards. And they also have an income on the side, according to the parliamentary manager of the FDP parliamentary group, Mr. Höne. Then get on with the vacant jobs. I also applied, but have not yet received an acceptance despite the great need. I'm not a waiter either.
