Before I go into detail about the miracle vaccine AstraZeneca, I would first like to congratulate the few, a little more, but quite a lot, a large number of the employees in the retail sector. But not all. Only those who do not belong to the grocery retail trade. So hardware stores, clothing, electronics, cell phones and more. Unfortunately, according to recent government wills, you have had bad luck. You can now see it positively or negatively, form your own picture as the person affected, but it is a left number anyway. What happened ? As we all know, the STIKO or RKI presented a detailed vaccination plan on February 4th after the 3rd group plan a la Spahn was not detailed enough. This plan, which was divided into 6 groups, identified employees in the retail trade as the prioritized vaccination group in group 5, ages 60-64. But the federal government changed this sometime in March, like so many priorities. In the federal government's vaccination plan, the same group now states: employees in the food retail sector. Aha, all other second-class employees in retail are no longer mentioned and now belong to the group of remaining citizens who are not considered to be so important. They probably tried in vain last year, with applause and praise meant the others, those from the food sector. But as I said, in this day and age, when some vaccines are more bad than right, maybe you have to be happy to have to wait and see. And that brings us to the next topic.

The miracle vaccine AstraZeneca. What was the hype about the 3rd available vaccine, now all bottlenecks are over, now things are looking up - but unfortunately only with the dramas around this vaccine. At first it should have a low degree of effectiveness in those over 80 years of age, then more and more reports of side effects appear, first abroad, then more and more in Germany. At first it can't be, everything is normal, according to the Paul Ehrlich Institute and other proponents, because everyone knows that a vaccine failure is not possible. Spahn has just as little a clue as others, claiming that it's great, if the body shows vaccine reactions, then it works better. But then too good, because several younger people die, his verdict no longer works, the vaccine is finally suspended. You want to check and examine, but that has to be done quickly and, above all, you don't want to lose the citizens, so after 3 short days of the great exam, everything is fine, well, not quite, but that is quite normal. Now one puts the deaths on the normal track, is common with vaccines, one has weighed, the benefit is greater, so further. What the citizens should not find out: The rate of side effects is significantly higher than with ALL other previous vaccines, but this truth is inconvenient and one thought of the citizens that they would not find out.

On Friday of the same week the lively vaccination continues, in the meantime the time has come that Steinmeier and Kretschmann are demonstratively vaccinated with AstraZeneca to show the citizens how safe the whole thing is. And both feel so good afterwards. Great PR measure, nothing else. Because unfortunately Mr. Seehofer refuses to do the same. And Ms. Merkel is also telling herself that it's not her turn yet. Mr. Laschet doesn't really want to either, everyone has their own excuses. Eat clearly, as a prioritized Federal Chancellor she has to come behind. Is she a little uncomfortable, something could happen. And that's exactly what happens, always new reports of serious to fatal side effects, but you research and keep looking. And then the turning point: somehow the vaccine is totally negative in younger people, so only vaccinate with it from the age of 60. Oops, so now the older ones, not the younger ones? Where did the new knowledge come from? But this back and forth with AstraZeneca, the many bad news of deaths that are supposed to be related make the citizens insecure. And not just that. In Hamburg, out of 600 prioritized doctors and nursing staff, 200 do not come to the planned vaccination appointment, why only? Do they know more? Even politicians are noticing that technology, not fully informing citizens, is no longer effective in the age of the Internet.

So people are now talking about wanting to use the maximum time between vaccinations to investigate the cases further. It is also possible to mix the vaccinations, i.e. 1x AstraZeneca and 1x another vaccine. You have to offer the citizens something. Offer yes, educate no. Because as a well-known virologist explains, there is no approval for vaccine mixtures, only a so-called off-label procedure. In the case of the corona vaccine, however, there is no data at all on possible mixtures, which normally has to be done in controlled studies. Yes, but we have it; Millions will get mixes, and we will collect the data, and the study is done, without a lot of extra cost and effort. Live on the people, data collection couldn't be fresher. AstraZeneca gets the whole thing too stupid. The company announces a name change for the vaccine. But it was planned much earlier, no, nothing to do with all the problems. That reminds me of a company that rips off money and at some point blows it up, files for bankruptcy in order not to have to repay anything and the former founders open a new company, everything is forgotten and buried. But that won't happen with the vaccine. The story of AstraZeneca. And about Biontech I only say: The awards have been given, now a new study is coming to light, the vaccine is then not quite as effective, but still high, the 5% less, we are not talking about that.

And Prof. Wieler RKI says in the federal press conference on March 26th, 2021, due to the many mutations and variants of Corona, nobody can say whether the vaccination will last for a long time, it could be that you have to be vaccinated every 6 months or every year no one knows that yet. His statement, however, gives a deep insight: Nobody seems to assume that a person is permanently protected after being vaccinated twice.

Spahn and Merkel had opened a press conference because of the AstraZeneca debacle: In it they report that the Ethics Council and the Leopoldiner had already dealt with it for the last few days. The STIKO now recommends vaccinations for people over 60 years of age via a doctor's decision or self-decision. The STIKO will issue a statement by the end of April for people who have already received the first vaccination. The result was also communicated to the EMA and WHO. Every suspicion is investigated, this is what the federal and state governments stand for. Spahn explains, In Germany vaccines are meticulously monitored. So far 31 brain thromboses, 9 of them fatal. 2.2 million AstraZeneca doses were vaccinated in people under 60 in the first vaccination. And as a final point on this hot topic, I would like to refer to the NRW press conference on March 31, 2021, at which it was said (ATTENTION - IMPORTANT): The reason why AstraZeneca is no longer used by young people who are under 60 is because they are young people very rarely die of corona. But the risk of dying from the vaccination is much higher. Therefore vaccination with AstraZeneca is no longer recommended for this age group.

In any case, the groups of experts, immunologists, virologists, politicians, the federal government, doctors, associations and everyone who has something to say about Corona on TV, radio, in the newspaper or the Internet every day do not agree. With absolutely nothing. Some speak of an urgent expansion of testing and vaccination, when even over Easter many test and vaccination centers were open due to a lack of products. In the USA, 15 million vaccine doses become unusable due to mixed-up components. That's a shame, but what would have happened if these cans had been delivered? Mr Kretschmar even talks about the fact that the last MPK resolution did not say that every citizen would only get one free test per week, but that that would be the minimum. He sees 2 - 3 per citizen per week as normal testing. Who should do it how, no words. And the claimants do not even notice that there are not enough tests and vaccines to radically increase now. Because tests also have to be produced first, and for this you also need basic material that is not freely available. Apart from that, some citizens are already losing their appetite for testing, because a report from March 31, 2021 reports contamination of rapid tests in Leipzig, whereupon the city is said to have stopped the tests. That's a fact. The currently unproven rumor is that there are also said to be contamination in some operating room masks, which can only be seen under a microscope or from certain magnifying glasses. I didn't want to believe that, but in the last few days several reports in this direction have emerged independently of one another. Form your own opinion.

In addition to the test and vaccination speakers, there is also the group of openers, lockdowners, ignoreers, know-it-alls and wise guys. Some claim that their sector of the economy is not one of those who spread Corona, and if so, then only minimally. For example, the retail sector. But you don't notice that the citizens have to come there first, get on their sleeves and then spread the virus after all. All shops open, all shops closed, who knows what is right, one wonders in these times. Weeks ago there was great excitement when there was talk of the 3rd wave, now people are talking about a 4th wave. A so-called permanent wave, one might think, because as Prof. Streeck said several times: We will have to live with the virus, it's a kind of marathon run. And some think we're almost there. Others say they (the federal government) would think of nothing but lockdown. There aren't that many ways to divide the citizens. And since fewer and fewer are willing to do so, see the last demos from Easter in Stuttgart and Berlin, where even courts contribute so that the coronaviruses can always find new hosts by allowing such demos to take place without any rule, the virus will always find new people .

And then the city of Stuttgart stands up in retrospect and talks about it, based on the registration numbers, one could not have known that the demo would run like this. No? I wonder what kind of misplaced people actually decided that in Stuttgart? There have been dozens of demos by lateral thinkers that always run in the same way and usually. always go hand in hand with violations, but no, you can't know that. And the best thing about it: The police just stand around and do nothing to prevent that or to break up the meeting. I guess they don't feel like getting the hell out of it for city officials who can't do their job and who make bad decisions at the expense of the police.

As is well known, despite hostility, representatives of the press try to capture voices at the demos, even if they are now being attacked and verbally vilified. I would like to introduce you to a number of the "best": A folder in a demo, which is also marked as such, is asked why she is not wearing a mask? Answer: People with a medical certificate do not need to wear anything. Question: Why don't you make demo attendees wear a mask? Answer: That is the job of the police. Another claims to be a doctor and she knows what is behind this corona. When asked: What is it all about? The qualified answer: It's hard to say. She couldn't say that in two words. A third relates: We never had a pandemic. This is a fake. When asked by the reporter: who faked that? Answer: That's a good question. Cui bono (in German: who benefits from it?). I don't want to report more people, otherwise I could become abusive. But one thing is becoming increasingly clear to me: where the number comes from that there should have been over 2 million mentally ill people in Germany last year. You obviously meet them everywhere by now.

Now it is said, after Easter, the big Merkel hammer will come with a general lockdown. But then again, it couldn't possibly be done bypassing the Bundestag. The politicians should perhaps not always focus on their need to speak and have a say, who are neither experts on Corona nor know what is best, but rather move their butts and make quick, meaningful decisions, but that is not at all in nature many politicians. The taking of additional money, commissions and bonuses in addition to the TOP diet and the many advantages one has as a politician, because some politicians get hyperactive very quickly. And then someone else came up with the idea of curfew. Empty the streets, then there will be no contagion. Implemented in some German cities from 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. Great, these are exactly the times when there is nothing going on on the streets anyway, because bars and co. And entertainment are closed. It brings a lot. And some lock out, others open up, as a pilot project, the new word that can remedy the coronavirus. And best of all: You can now simply drive on from one place, as much of what is closed in your place is open. As a hairdresser from Flensburg says: Citizens have to register with him in the city and fill out a form, including a negative test. This is not necessary on the outskirts, people are fed up with it and drive to the outskirts. That reminds me of the 2 shops in Hanover, which are, so to speak, door to door on the side of the street next door. A drugstore lets all customers in, a clothing store has to work with Click & Meet and register customers at the entrance. Here the stubbornness of some politics shows itself at its best.

Meanwhile, Spahn is boasting that from this week 1.4 million vaccine doses can be additionally vaccinated in around 35,000 medical practices. The great wave of vaccinations is rolling in. Really great. With 35,000 practices that means: just 40 vaccination doses for each practice, just 20 people can be vaccinated per practice. A real achievement that really brings vaccination to the fore.

What happened next: Oh yes, again someone dared to comment on the origin of the Corona Virus. As a professor pointed out a few weeks ago that he saw evidence that it came from a laboratory, is this theory ?! now reappeared. And then from someone who cannot simply be dismissed as unfounded or uninformed. The WHO intervened personally and threw a study on the possible origin of the virus on the market. Where has she slumbered for so long? There are coincidences that it was finished just now, when one urgently needs one. But even that can only be based on theory, as there are no reliable and verifiable findings.

Since the report is quite long again, I will publish the next part tomorrow, there is so much to report these days. However, here are a few short messages: I have now received a report with documents that a person who has been vaccinated twice has now received a positive test anyway. To be honest, I have been amazed the whole time that there is not a single message about how many people who have been vaccinated have gotten sick after all, I personally do not believe in a zero number here. And Scholz already wants to expand the budget by 60 billion euros. Because of Corona. This would already have exceeded the 210 billion euros by 30 billion euros.

Finally, a note to attentive Corona report readers and listeners: What has it been called since December 2020: The mRNA vaccine is a new vaccine that has never existed, so there is still no experience. Oh, why does the Medical Director of Moderna give a speech about these mRNA-based vaccines as early as 2017? And DNA also plays a role in the speech, to put it mildly.
