Is not that great ? Soon so many vaccine doses will be in stock that the test centers will no longer be able to keep up with the many tests, and that is why around 12,000 general practitioners are already being prepared to show that they are about to show commitment from April and also to carry out vaccinations . Not only are they so not at all enthusiastic about it, as if appointments were not already difficult enough for the normal sick, they should then also have vaccinations every day. But not only the family doctors, but also the STIKO boss Mertens thinks the whole thing is bad: The vaccination priorities are no longer adhered to, because everyone can then make an appointment with the family doctor and then be vaccinated. Because what should the family doctor do? Look through his patient files for priority and then withhold vaccination doses for them until they get in touch with him although he does not know that some of them have long since been vaccinated at the vaccination center or do not want to be vaccinated at all? A chaos of vaccination priorities threatens, according to the opinion of some Prime Ministers: Then the vaccination will take place, nothing will be left in the refrigerator. Yes. The main thing is that these quantities will actually be available from April 2021. Spahn has promised us quantities many times. Just not offered. But we have to let him do that. Mr. Spahn is Minister of Health, not a math teacher. Why do you notice that at every opportunity?

Okay, we don't want to talk badly, since March 1st we have had the concentrated power of the tests. The front, back, top and bottom are tested, as actually promised by Mr. Spahn 2 weeks ago, but not as Ms. Merkel and the Prime Minister's squad a week ago. Like now, no? But that is THE basis of the opening strategy in 5 steps, which every citizen has been given a free weekly test since March 1st. Does not work? Hasn't this been agreed, ordered, prepared in terms of personnel and material in advance, and communicated to the citizens? Oh, March 1st is only the possible first date, it wasn't guaranteed at all? But that's not how it says in the decision-making process. And Mr. Seibert, government spokesman, always says: We (that is, he) always only report facts and transparently. (Unless you forget it).

The political truth looks like this: The tests have only been available since October 2020 and of course Spahn hit the ground running. But that takes time until they are produced and delivered. And Prime Minister Haseloff told Anne Will last week that the self-tests have only been available since the end of the year, so where are they supposed to come from so quickly. Wait a minute, Mr. Haseloff, why are the tests promised in the quantities when there are none?

The real truth looks like this: Already on April 21st, 2020 !!! Groko has put together a so-called Corona law package. In his own words, it is about the massive expansion of a corona test strategy with the help of veterinarians. You read that right. Because it was already known at the time that mass tests would pose a problem in terms of personnel if only laboratories and doctors carried out the tests (there was no talk of test centers). At that time, the tests were only carried out if there was reasonable suspicion due to the still low availability. It was clear and clear that in order to significantly increase the test capacities, veterinary laboratories should also be used, which could make an important contribution to relieving human medical laboratories. But that also means that we had the tests back then. The whole thing was neither forced, nor considered important, nor initiated. Neither from Spahn, nor from the Prime Minister, nor from anyone. Loosely, as so often in these times, to act early. Like now, when suddenly the test is supposed to fall a million times over night, which no one in the crowd has ordered, and Spahn seriously asks himself why he should actually do everything.

If he's too good for that, why didn't he delegate early on and draw attention to the fact that someone would have to order? Because nobody was interested. First of all, get through the summer break, don't overwork, but convey new bad news and fake news to the citizens every day, and don't forget that the others are the bad ones with the fake news. What has worked since February 2020 with regard to Corona, Mr. Spahn, the federal government, prime ministers and other responsible persons? NOTHING. Missing protective equipment in the first MONTHS, missing vaccines since December 2020, missing tests since February 2021, and the order was always wrong, it doesn't matter who it was. Mr. Lanz is quite right, in the Corona crisis there is never any guilt, no one ever confesses: It was me, I am responsible. Which term (s) should apply to whom: failure, coward, liar?

It is simply no longer acceptable what is going on. The sly talkers in the current TV programs cannot be so stupid that the speeches are taken away from them, and the questions from the presenters are justifiably sharper. We have long since ceased to need glossy speakers, we have had enough and have had enough, we have long needed some people who pull up their sleeves and tackle. But you look for it with a magnifying glass - in vain. Handpicked exceptions are e.g. B. the mayor of Rostock, I reported.

And on Haseloff's excuse that the self-tests only existed for a short time: Everything is Qautsch, as reported by a real expert in the Markus Lanz program: They have been around for as long as the tests that doctors do: They just get the bottles and packs relabeled, they are the same. Rather, it is about the fact that the population has not been trusted to use this correctly.

One still does not trust the population to do that, but many citizens just do not notice it. Race like mad on Monday morning at 7 a.m. to Aldi, Lidl to buy one of the limited overpriced self-tests in a pack of 5 and then store it at home or what? Who needs that? None. What's the point? Nothing. Great i know i'm negative. For 6 - 8 hours, according to Lauterbach, some would think about a day. Then I take the bus into town, go shopping for a moment, come home and the test is history, because everything can be different now. After 5 days of testing I know that after 5 bus rides and 5 purchases I was negative and spent 22 euros. For nothing. And 1 week later I am in the hospital with severe corona because the last test was incorrect or the infection is only reported later. Folks, turn on your brain, the federal government is laughing itself sick, its failures, because of 1 free test per week for everyone, you, the citizens, finance it. And everyone falls for it in rows. But whoever is so stupid has to pay. We were thinking of 2 tests / week, now it should be 1 test / week. When it starts.

For Göttingen I can say: On Friday March 5th I was informed on the Corona citizen hotline that the health department was in a meeting to discuss where the tests will start on Monday. That would be published on the website of the city of Göttingen on Saturday afternoon. On Monday afternoon, the information that the state of Lower Saxony was responsible for the provision and establishment of the test centers, so there is no place that is planned. Quote: The process to expand test capacities is expected to be launched across the country in the coming week (end of quote). Technically correct in terms of expression, but poor in terms of content. In return, the city of Göttingen did not have to pay any expense or effort to put a vaccination advertising film online, in which some officials and a few citizens have their say and of course everyone is in favor of vaccination. In particular, Prof. Dr. Hummers, medical director of the Siekhöhe vaccination center, cannot understand the excitement surrounding vaccines. If anything, it would be about short-term side effects. True, if you are dead, the side effect is gone. Even Mr. Metin Tolan, the new president of our Georg August University, doesn't care which vaccine it is, he is looking forward to the injection like never before. All vaccines are TOP tested and therefore safe. Says a professor of experimental physics and mathematics.

Vaccine Safe, Short Side Effects? Well, what did I hear from the UMG Göttingen? The cleaning team, more precisely some of the employees, have been on sick leave for a few days because of side effects of the contaminated substance. And that's why you didn't vaccinate the entire team completely, because then everyone would have failed.

Spahn claims that 500 million self-tests are available. Exactly, they're standing around somewhere, damn it, how do they get into the counties? We know that Merkel canceled the last promises, the federal government canceled the new ones, because only a few places were few self-tests available free of charge on Monday. In Berlin 16 test centers, today 5 should be added, but stupid: test dates, yes, you need dates here too, will not be available again until next week. If Spahn had ordered sensibly in April, he would have had billions of tests by now. Regarding Spahn's figures, Mr. Lauterbach says: NONE knows at the moment how many rapid tests are available, now tests are being relabelled as rapid tests. Already the second to claim that.

But for that we have the great tests and compulsory tests, the results of which travelers from risk areas have to bring with them when they come to Germany. And, as is well known, there are many of them. Many who come back, but the vast majority who are either not checked, who show fake test results that are not recognized as such by the police. If necessary, these can also be purchased cheaply on the Internet. The ZDF program Report Mainz has taken on this topic and will report this evening at 9.45 p.m. on the results that the FDP received from the federal government in response to the request for printed matter 19/26697 of February 15, 2021 with printed matter 19/27372 are available exclusively to the transmitter. This printed matter will be released to the public at a later date. So watch the show tonight.

Tübingen is showing what ministers can't manage with thousands of employees: After all, Tübingen had bought tests in October 2020, and according to their own words, the Ministry of Social Affairs was not interested at the time. THAT'S what it looks like. Tübingen has bought over 3 million tests and is currently doing over 20,000 tests per day. The whole thing can go SO well.

There were small upsets because of my last formulation that Corona now also attacks body regions that Corona has never seen before. Denouement: OF COURSE the head was meant. And that's not satire, but neither is it an insult. If you don't know, and there seem to be a lot of them, here is the answer: It's true. Lt. Prof. Berlit, Secretary General of the German Society for Neurology, reports in a report by the MDR of April 2nd, 2020 that, according to a study, there are indications that the virus finds its way into the brain stem via nerve tracts. May I help you.

Finally, a few figures: While Germany is in 23rd place out of 27 in the EU ranking for the number of tests, Germany is in 1st place when it comes to assigning blame for failure. More to come soon.
