

Corona News 08/10/2021 MPK Söder Merkel Müller and so

Today it was that time again: After a long dry spell, another MPK, which, in addition to the flood disaster, which I will not go into, also had the subject of Corona on the menu. Just why? The numbers are so low, the incidence doesn't say anything anymore, so what's that supposed to mean? I then understand pretty soon, a little or a little more hacking on the stubborn vaccination refusers, making threats and other things. Because it's their fault that the numbers are increasing again. Not those of the vaccinated who think that they can do everything in society again, such as parties, holidays, events or just getting really close together at large family celebrations. That would not occur to the unvaccinated because they know the risk. Unfortunately, a large number of those vaccinated did not. Sequentially:

The usual participants are known, the first 5 minutes were about the flood disaster and its state aid. Then to Corona. According to the MPK, the increase in the numbers is due to the fact that people cannot be vaccinated enough, in other words, as already said, the so-called vaccination refusers are to blame for the increases. And that's why everyone should get vaccinated as soon as possible. Company doctors and time off work should ensure that additional vaccinations are possible. Test requirements through federal or state regulations do not apply to fully vaccinated or convalescent people. But whether that means the 2nd vaccination or the recently 3rd vaccination, which starts e.g. in Lower Saxony in September, was not taken into account. Because if you should pick up a so-called refresher in Lower Saxony, that obviously means that the vaccination cannot be that complete, because complete means ready, 100%. These groups of people are also excluded from quarantine measures.

Furthermore, the regulations should apply to everyone, to observe special hygiene, to keep your distance and to wear masks in certain places. Likewise in retail and local public transport. These measures are checked every 4 weeks for further necessity. As of August 23, the federal states will require the submission of a negative rapid antigen test, which must not be older than 24 hours, or a PCR test, which must not be older than 48 hours. These tests are then mandatory for the following areas:

- 1) Access as a visitor to hospitals, old people's / nursing homes and facilities for the disabled
- 2) indoor catering
- 3) Events and celebrations indoors (e.g. culture, sport, information)
- 4) Body-close services (e.g. hairdresser, body care, massage, cosmetics)
- 5) Indoor sports (e.g. fitness studios, swimming pools, sports halls)
- 6) Accommodation of all kinds

The free citizen test antigen rapid test will end on October 11, 2021. From this point on, everyone has to pay for the test themselves, not valid for people for whom there is no general vaccination recommendation or who cannot receive a vaccination for health reasons. In indoor areas with a high risk of infection, such as clubs, bars, celebrations and large events, new hygiene concepts must be proven that meet the special requirements. Large event organizers may allow up to 5000 visitors, if the location comprises more than 5000 visitors, a maximum of 50% of the places may be occupied, the limit of 25,000 visitors applies here.

State aid for companies will be extended, I wrote about it on August 8th, the occupational health and safety ordinance in companies must be adapted to the new requirements and hygiene concepts updated. Tests must also be offered. I think the latter rule is particularly well formulated: tests must be offered. And what if no employee uses them because they are not interested in them at all? How useful.

The incidence value alone no longer determines the regulations and restrictions in relation to Corona. In addition to this value, the rate of intensive care bed occupancy and the associated burden on the health system also count. The vaccination rate also plays a role. The emergency brake is out, the epidemic situation of national scope is still affirmed and is to be extended by the Bundestag to September 11th.

So much for the information from the minutes of the meeting. But live is always a little different from the protocol. That is when Mr Söder comes to the conclusion that the rapid antigen tests are not reliable enough. Oh no, billions of antigen-based tests have been carried out so far and they will continue, but citizens should pay for them soon, and they are not reliable at all? I call it dumbing down, and it's nothing else. Incidentally, this is exactly what Mr. Tschentscher had already said, that the antigen tests were not reliable. Ms. Merkel remarks that Germany is no longer the front runner when it comes to vaccinations. We have never been either, stupid statement. Allegedly around 55% were vaccinated twice, around 62% once. Over 60 years, over 80% are vaccinated. She hopes for a significant increase in the vaccination rate after the vacation periods of up to 80%.

Speaking of which we are currently with the tests and vaccinations. That the tests will have to be paid for soon seems to have gotten through beforehand, because the test centers are closing everywhere in the country, including in Göttingen. Even if secretly. What do I mean by that? The week before last on Saturday, shortly after 9 a.m., 5 people were standing in front of the still closed test center on the Holtenser Berg, which is actually open every day between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. But today everything is probably different. Even 20 minutes later, no tester to be seen, the first test willing disappear again and are angry. The whole thing goes on until Tuesday, and suddenly the test center is gone. Just as quickly as it happened around 2 months ago. I wanted to know: What's the matter, why is the test center going away? A call to the Göttingen health department: They don't know and aren't even responsible for it. I should submit my question by email. And where to send? At the Goettingen Health Department. I laugh my head off. One day later I call the Corona crisis team in Göttingen. Unfortunately, he cannot be reached, but the crisis team's office gives me a phone. Contact a municipal employee who is responsible for the test center support. That is great, but when this one cannot be reached after 6 attempts on different days, I give up. The speculation of the waiting room lady that it could be due to the decreased demand also because of the vacation times is unfortunately not true. A short time before, when the test center still existed, I had contact with the test center operator, who was so satisfied with the demand that he needed 3 people to operate it.

Contrary to the information from the MPK, I have a few special messages from the corona scene. As in Göttingen, it is common in other cities to make special corona vaccination offers for migrants, asylum seekers and refugees: With mobile vehicles, multilingual flyers, social workers who provide information in their native language and more, because they supposedly would not understand the whole thing and none have confidence. But the vaccination situation has improved little in these circles due to costly campaigns. Why? Because false reports have persisted and persisted here. Example Berlin Neukölln. At the beginning three-digit numbers per day, now hardly more than 15-20 per day. It is said that the vaccine makes you sick, that it is an invention of unbelievers or that it does not conform to the rules of Islam. And persuasion only rarely paid off, despite the offer in 13 languages.

Regarding the subject of immunity and the exemption of vaccinated persons from all rules, I unfortunately have to explain to Ms. Merkel and Co. that this is neither expedient nor correct. But politics has long since stopped believing the virologists and experts, only eloquent politicians who play their way in TV shows and have a lot to say. Because now there is, who can believe it, another study. This indicates that even completely vaccinated people infected with the India variant can have almost as high a virus load in the throat as if they were not vaccinated at all. That in turn means that they are then just as contagious. However, because they are not tested and get through everywhere, this is not noticed at all and of course additional numbers of infections are generated. And it is already known that the vaccinations only help to a limited extent against the Indian variant. And if you still believe in the fairytale hour of Merkel, Söder and Müller, you should take a look at the official figures from the RKI. In the period from July 5 to August 1, 2021, around 27% of all infections still affected people who had been vaccinated. Of course, the number of unreported cases is much higher, because if the course is mild without any noteworthy symptoms, no vaccinated person goes to the doctor. Why also? The next number is also striking: So far, around 8,700 infections have been registered in people who have been completely vaccinated. Well, where is the immunity? A pure fairy tale. Almost 10% of these people still had to be treated in hospital. Oh well, vaccinated people can only get mild to no symptoms, so treatment in the hospital!?

As Ms. Merkel and Co. have announced, the mask wearing regulations in retail and local public transport will remain in place for the time being. This is allegedly checked monthly to see if it makes sense. Erwin Rüdell, member of the CDU Health Committee, sees it very differently. He makes it clear that the mask will still be part of our lives in 5 years.

And another spectacular piece of news from the realm of vaccinations. Between March 5 and April 20, 2021, over 8,500 people in the Friesland district were vaccinated once or twice with a saline solution instead of a vaccine solution, or rather injected. Now city officials have their hands full to find out these people, to write to them and, if necessary, to have a new vaccination done. The whole thing affects almost 9,700 vaccinations and the question arises: What happened to the supposedly inoculated and used vaccination bottles, and where did the vaccination center get these saline solutions from? And nobody notices that for weeks? And the dramatic for the people? How do you want to find out, and some of them may have received real vaccinations and can't get 4 vaccinations, and none of them can be found out either. A drama without end, which once again shows that control and security are utterly absent. It came out here, and in another case in Schortens, I reported, too, but how many localities did not attract attention, was vaccine diverted or sold? That really encourages you to get vaccinated. Spahn would now say: an isolated case. Just like him. Fortunately in his case.
