Today's big topic: vaccination. It's about AstraZeneca's newly approved vaccine. After information became known some time ago that this vaccine supposedly only works to a limited extent in over 64 year olds, the vaccine was approved for the age group 18 - 64 years. In the last few days, and especially today, there have been increasing complaints about health problems after the vaccination, ranging from headaches, fever, flu-like symptoms to paralysis. As a result, the vaccinations with this active ingredient in various facilities were stopped for the time being. In Delmenhorst and Braunschweig, more than 30 employees have reported sick, and fire departments that have been vaccinated also complain of failures.

Spahn now sees his nice vaccination bill and planning in jeopardy and tries with his speeches and statements to stop the emerging refusal to vaccinate with this vaccine by claiming that everything is quite normal. He quickly invents a new word creation in this context and calls it vaccination reaction instead of side effects. Sounds much better and healthier. But that's not all: He's now going so far as to say that these are all normal vaccine reactions and that these are good signs that the body's immune system is reacting to the vaccine and adapting to it. And smiles. A little sarcasm from Mr. Spahn, I have never seen or heard that it is a sign of health and a positive body reaction when vaccinated people are so weak and affected that they can no longer even work and have to call in sick. That only seems to be the case in the Spahnwelt.

The reactions of medical employees and other people who suddenly simply do not show up for their scheduled vaccination appointments are clearly justified, obvious and understandable. And while Mr. Spahn wants to whip through his term vaccine reactions, others do not allow themselves to be wrapped up or intimidated by him: For example, the Foundation for Quality and Efficiency in Healthcare reports on its website about temporary SIDE EFFECTS such as pain at the injection site and complaints such as fever, headache or muscle pain. These are FREQUENTLY observed, but are mostly of an easy nature. Sounds very different from the way Mr. Spahn propagates his message. The foundation also writes that in a study by the British Medicines Agency MHRA based on 24,000 people, no less than 73% had physical complaints such as exhaustion, headache, fever, chills, nausea and muscle pain. Mr. Spahn can immediately pack up with his statement about vaccination reactions.

But he gets the full broadside from Eugen Brysch, director of the German Foundation for Patient Protection. Mr Brysch reported on World TV channel around 3:12 p.m. that Biontech and Moderna had similar problems as now with Astra Zeneca. But a kind of vow of silence in January swept everything under the table. Mr. Spahn wanted to gloss over it now, but it was too late for that. The RKI, Mr. Spahn and STIKO had downplayed the "vaccination reactions" and kept silent. Now that would fall on our feet. At that time they did not want to disrupt the vaccination campaign.

That says it all for me. Thank you for the honest words. Finally, on the subject of vaccination, one more number: over 20% of the newly infected are said to be the British mutation. For me it is also surprising that the numbers increase so extremely with the mutation, while the number of new infections suddenly drops extremely. Speaking of falling infection numbers. However, this does not prevent that 2 corona herds have become known again. In connection with a physical practice and in another case with a temporary employment agency, hundreds of people have again been quarantined. The numbers are now low, but the contact chains have not yet been finally traced. And as if we haven't had Corona long enough and slowly the routes of infection have to be clear, no, if we think we know everything, a few experts come around the corner and have completely new insights. This time it's the elevator's fault. And as soon as it is on everyone's lips, a new suspicion arises: Inadequate ventilation in the majority of elevators, which means that the aerosols can stay in the elevator for up to 30 minutes. During this time, hundreds of people may drive this cabin. Congratulations. And because we will soon open everything again, the retailers can hardly wait to let corona sufferers into the store, a curfew is quickly imposed in Flensburg because the British mutation is supposedly spreading so extremely there. But only late in the evening please, then the mutants can shop in peace during the day.

Again positive news regarding corona testing, which should soon be affordable for everyone, comes from Canada: In a press release, XPhyto Therapeutics Corp. reports. from Vancouver and the exclusive German development partner for diagnostics, 3a-diagnostics GmbH, which is responsible for applying for European approval of the fast point-of-care SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) RT-PCR test system ("Covid-ID Lab ") nothing stands in the way. The ISO 13485 approval as a medical device manufacturer is expected by the end of February and the European regulatory approval as a commercial in vitro diagnostic device (CE-IVD) for Covid-ID Lab by the beginning of March, i.e. periods that are quite close. The first production quantities are to benefit Germany, with sales starting in April 2021.

In conclusion, I would like to say something briefly about the aid provided by KfW Bank for commercial enterprises in times of corona. There are many companies that complain about the closings caused by Corona and talk about bankruptcy. They can and were able to apply to KfW Bank for support. Including companies that are worth billions and have received corresponding support in the 3-digit million range or more. But that such a company is now standing up and the chairman of the board announces that the money that you received 8 months ago has not yet been touched and, as it were, bunkered, I cannot understand. Point 1 should be the money for companies that are in need and can use the money to get their company through the crisis without going bankrupt. Point 2, in this case, the state does not give out any money from tax revenues so that companies can equip themselves with an additional financial cushion and possibly earn more money with the money, at the cost of the state and the taxpayer, of course. I ask myself again, as with all aid that is paid out, who does not check here and just pay out? In the case of Hartz IV recipients, of course, it looks very different with the picky amounts. An answer from KfW based on my request is still pending.
